

Benefit Bouts at Ebbets Field Tomorrow Night

Bretonnel Meets Dundee on Card At Ebbets Field

All things come to him who waits, so Fred Bretonnel, the French boxer, who was matched to fight Johnny Dundee in Paris two years ago only to have Johnny's pilot call off the go, is to hook up with the little Scotch-Wop in the semi-final ten-rounder on the card of bouts which Humber Fugazy will stage at Ebbets Field tomorrow night for the benefit of the Jewish Community House of Bensonhurst.

Fugazy was compelled to shake up his whole card owing to an injury to Louis (Kid) Kaplan, who was forced to withdraw from his match with Jimmy Goodrich when he injured his right paw.

Bretonnel was originally slated to box Sammy Vogel of Harlem and when the Frenchman was paired with Dundee Fugazy mated Sammy with Goodrich in an eight-rounder.

These last-minute changes have strengthened the whole program. Dundee was scheduled to leave for the Coast tomorrow, where he is to box Tod Morgan on September 7 for the junior lightweight title, but he postponed the trip to help his friend Fugazy and the worthy charity.

Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight champion, who is to take on Francis Charles, the French fighter, in the main event of ten sessions, regards this match as the deciding test as to whether he will remain in the light heavyweight division or invade Jack Dempsey's domain.

Bout a Test for Paul

The Astoria Assassin reports that he experienced no difficulty in making the light heavyweight poundage during his training siege at Southampton, L. I., but will withhold judgment as to whether he will continue in his own division until he sees whether he still remains strong at the weight.

He frankly admits that he was weakened scaling down to the championship figure for Delaney, and if he is not fit against Charles tomorrow night he will desert his own class and start campaigning as a heavy.

Those who have seen Charles in training were not impressed with his stuff, but, like Berly, he is said to be a poor gym fighter and does his best stunts in the ring. He can take plenty of punishment, but he will have to have plenty of granite in his make-up to hold off Paulie once the ex-champ starts sinking lefts to his body.

There are two other bouts on the bill which are bound to thrill the fans. Andre Routis, French featherweight, who impresses the fans as being the best boxer ever sent from Paris, is to face Eddie Anderson, the Wyoming cowboy in a ten-rounder and since both are rip-tearing sluggers, one or the other is bound to go down during the mill.

The other affray which should be filled with hectic fighting is the special six-rounder between Harry Ebbets, the young knockout king, and Andy DeVodi, the stiff-punching Bay Ridge boxer.

GARCIA-KRAMER

Bobby Garcia and Danny Kramer top the card of bouts at the Phillies' Ball Park on Monday.

Former Middleweight Champ in Fine Shape for Flowers Go Thursday

Fight fans are hereby warned not to take seriously the reports that Harry Greb, former middleweight champion, has been gallivanting around with some giddy damsels, drinking a hooch of Old Headache rye every day and dancing a hornpipe on his boxing gloves each noon as the sole training stunts for his return bout with Tiger Flowers, the middleweight titleholder, which is to take place at the Garden next Thursday night.

These rumors were probably spread by the wily Jimmy Johnston, who is advising Greb on this match. Harry has severed his connections with his manager, Reddy Mason, and the Boy Bandit is assuming the task of helping Harry win back the title he lost to Flowers last winter.

Johnston wants Flowers to get the impression that Greb became inconsolable over the loss of his throne and has been burying his sad thoughts in beakers of brandy and other such mild liquors.

In reality, Harry has been training as he never did before for any match, at Dr. Bier's place at Pompton Lakes, N. J. Bier runs his camp much as William Muldoon manages his health farm. All boxers under his direction must retire at 10 o'clock and he places them under guard until they arise at dawn. Dr. Bier is a strict taskmaster and woe betide the boxer who breaks one of his rules.

Greb has had to buckle down to stern work and the Pittsburgh Windmill is bounding about with the dash and vim as of yore. He wants his title back and has intelligence enough to know he cannot dissipate and still be able to match punches and speed against the burning pace the Deacon sets.

A New Thrill

To smoke LUCKY STRIKES for the first time is a genuine delight.

Instantly, you note a difference. That's because "IT'S TOASTED."

These two words condense volumes of technical explanation, involving great expense in extra machinery, extra labor.

For toasting is a costly added process—added to the selection of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended.

Toasting for 45 minutes: (1) removes all "bite" and harshness and (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals in the fragrant moisture which keeps LUCKIES ever fresh.

These three things lift LUCKY STRIKES out of the ordinary.
